

MIT OpenCourseWare
<http://ocw.mit.edu>

4.500 Introduction to Design Computing
Fall 2008

For information about citing these materials or our Terms of Use, visit: <http://ocw.mit.edu/terms>.

The

Concord Cabin

A place to write.

4.500 Assignment 1

The Concord Cabin is a place for internal reflection amongst the surroundings of nature. The architecture of the cabin responds to the setting of the natural landscape through elevation changes, which progress downward with the topography. The design of the cabin, also, optimizes the view of the river and views of the surrounding trees. The cabin includes an inner, wooden courtyard and a covered porch. The porch faces the river and provides a quiet place to read. The courtyard separates a circular sleeping cot from the place to write. The many windows and open spaces will allow a writer to find inspiration in nature: in the rustling of leaves and in the gentle lull of the passing river.