Writer's Cabin in Concord River

A small cabin of 400 sq. ft with unique design near Old North Bridge in Concord River will offer a great comfort to the writer. With the large windows on every wall, writer will be able to capture the best views of nature in anywhere in the cabin through his/her eyes for him/her to immerse in the ocean of literature. More specifically, the writer will be able to see three different views of nature through three large windows surrounded in the working area. View of peaceful wooded area in the north, beautiful Concord River in the west, and small valley in the south side of the cabin in the working area will create an extraordinary panorama of nature. Plus, the window on the roof will also give a great view of night sky when the writer is resting on the bed.

Not just having the great views, the cabin will also offer a perfect condition to the writer to live without the electricity. Multiple of windows in the cabin will capture the sunray every minute throughout the day in order to brighten the place. With the high open ceiling, it will create a cool air in the living area. Also the large windows on every side of the cabin will let the wind to flow in and out the cabin to cool down and give a fresh air to the writer. This unique cabin will create astonishing views of nature and give a full comfort to the writer for short period of time on Concord River.
