Spring 2010

Assignment 7

Problem: Design Review Session

D-lab event at MIT museum is scheduled on 5/8, and the final presentation in the class will be on 5/12. This means we only have three weeks to go. We are thinking of Design Review Session in the class. Each team will show their progress and current design and discuss among the class on 4/21.

As a group, prepare a 10 – 15 minute presentation about your project. Be sure to include the problem definition, adequate (but not superfluous) background information, your approach to the problem, progress from the mid-term presentation, and the details of your design. This will be the last time to get feedback from the class.
