

PROBLEM SET – MALE SEXUAL DYSFUNCTION

Which of the following may be injected into the penis to cause an erection

- a) atropine
- b) papverine
- c) prostaglandins
- d) phentolamine
- e) procardia

The tough white outer coat of the penis is the _____

An undescended testicle is referred to as being _____

The name of the pelxus of veinsthat returns blood from the scrotum and tests is the ____

A 56 year old man has Peyronie’s disease. He has a problem with (pick as many as are correct)

- a) inability to have an erection
- b) a bent penis
- c) a very short penis
- d) a very long penis
- e) no penis

Sildenafil is contraindicated in men who are taking

- a) penicillin
- b) nitroglycerin
- c) atenolol
- d) captopril
- e) calcium channel blockers

Sildenafil directly inhibits

- a) cyclic GMP
- b) cyclic AMP
- c) phosphodiesterase type 5
- d) PDE3
- e) PGF2 alpha

Ejaculation is under control of the _____ nervous system while erection is under the control of the _____ nervous system.

A young man masturbates frequently but cannot seem to ejaculate. He feels he is having an orgasm but very little semen appears. What is likely occurring

- a) he is infertile
- b) he has congenital absence of the seminal vesicles
- c) he is ejaculating in a retrograde fashion
- d) he is not really having an orgasm
- e) he is probably not telling you the truth

Sildenafil is categorized as a

- a) category A drug
- b) category B drug
- c) category C drug
- d) category X drug
- e) not categorized since it is used only in men