

The “Information Pump” is a new method for eliciting information, which I will demonstrate in class. As preparation, please read the instructions for playing the information pump.