

Springfield Practicum
Ending Reflection Assignment

The last reflection activity for this practicum is designed to capture your thoughts on your development as a planning professional, as well as your reflections on the two substantive areas of the practicum; economic development, and community development.

The first part of the reflection is to name 5 critical moments in each of the following areas:

1. Those moments that shaped your understanding of community economic development
2. Those moments that shaped your understanding of working with a low- income and minority neighborhood
3. Those moments that shaped your view of yourself as a planning professional

By one week past Session 27 hand in a document that list all of the critical moments in the following format:

Name of Critical Moment:

Date (timeframe):

Short Description:

Why this moment was critical for you: