

Warm up for Case 2

As you read Werskey and after you finish reading note issues that fit in these categories (adapted from Madison Metropolitan School District (2001). "Classroom Action Research starting points."

1. What interests or intrigues me about the situation presented in the reading is...
2. Information--things I would like to know more about the situation are..
3. What's confusing, ambiguous or unclear to me is...
4. What seems most important to me about the situation is...
5. What seems to need improving/changing/responding to is..
6. Some people are unhappy about..
7. I am perplexed by...
8. I'm really curious about...
9. An idea I would like to explore in my courses/ life/ work/ classroom / community is...
10. Something I think would really make a difference is...
11. Something I would like to do towards change is...

MIT OpenCourseWare
<http://ocw.mit.edu>

WGS.693 Gender, Race, and the Complexities of Science and Technology: A Problem-Based Learning Experiment

Spring 2009

For information about citing these materials or our Terms of Use, visit: <http://ocw.mit.edu/terms>.